CENTRE TAX AGENCY (CTA) – INDIVIDUAL EARNED INCOME & NET PROFITS TAX (EIT) RETURNS
Frequently Asked Questions (FAQ)

* CHANGES FOR 2016 TAX RETURNS ****

A late filing fee in the amount of $25.00 was implemented. Additional fees will also be imposed for individuals that are making late payments, non-payments, requesting payment plans and failed to make quarterly self-payments that were required. A schedule of the collection costs can be found on our website.

Who needs to file an EIT Return?

Any person who has earnings (or a loss) from self-employment or as an employee is required to file an EIT return. The return is required whether a refund is due, a balance is due, or if no payment or refund is due. Please see note in the section below “What should I do if I received a tax return in error?” for additional information.

Can I file this return electronically?

Using the Personal Identification Number (PIN) that appears on the face of your tax return, or by using your username and password if you registered for a permanent account you can file your local tax return online using a free service called: eFiling. The eFiling link can be reached by visiting www.statecollegepa.us [Online Services Tab] eFiling option. There is a short-form for taxpayers with simple returns as well as a long form for those with complex filings.

How do I file if I have a post office box, rural route, or rural delivery?

Taxpayers must include on the tax return their physical address since that is the key factor that determines which municipality and school district is entitled to receive the tax due. Returns filed with only a post office box are subject to audit and will not be considered a complete return until a physical address is provided. Since there is a range of tax rates across Centre County, the tax office must enforce this requirement as part of Act 32 of 2008.

Can I file with my spouse if the preprinted form has only my name listed?

You may add your spouse to your form and file one tax return. Each of your earnings will be reflected in a separate column.

What if I owe a payment but my spouse is receiving a refund?

You will find that the tax return design does allow for transfers between the taxpayer and spouse allowing a refund to offset a balance due.

Why does the form have the cents columns filled in with zeros?

Act 32 of 2008, the legislation that created the framework for one county-wide Earned Income Tax Officer, requires that tax returns now be filed rounded to the nearest whole dollar. For this reason, we have already completed the cents column with zeros.

How do I file if I moved during the tax year?

Act 32 intended to make filing a prorated return a simple task, so the Act created a routine that uses the total wages, allocated 1/12 per month, making it easier for taxpayers to prorate their wages. Please visit the CTA website at: www.statecollegepa.us [Departments Tab] – Centre Tax Agency/Tax Services - to reach our Earned Income and Net Profits Tax listing of documents to download a copy of the proration worksheet. You may also call the tax office and a form will be mailed, faxed, or emailed to you.

What should I do if I received a tax return in error?

Please call the tax office to explain why you believe that you should not be receiving the enclosed tax return or notify the tax office by returning the enclosed form along with your explanation.

My employer withheld all of the tax due, do I need to file?

Tax returns are required for all residents of Centre County who are employed. If the correct tax due was withheld, you will file a tax return with no balance due. If your employer withheld at a rate less than the correct withholding rate, you will find that you owe a payment. Please alert your payroll department to correct their withholding rate tables to ensure that the correct tax due will be withheld for future tax years. Act 32 does require that the employer withhold at the correct tax rate.

Inclement weather?
Please listen for building closings on day of event.

Open Houses have been scheduled to provide you with an opportunity to have your tax questions answered, pick up tax forms, or learn about eFiling (an electronic filing program that allows you to file your local Earned Income and Net Profits Tax Return electronically). Line	Instructions
1	Report your total W-2 income/compensation. Submit one copy of all Form W-2(s) with your return. For full year residents use the worksheet on the back of the tax return. Carry the total(s) to this line on the tax return front. Part-year residents must complete the proration worksheet. The part-year resident worksheet is found on the website or by requesting a form from our office. If you work in an area that the worksite tax rate exceeds your home resident tax rate you must complete the section on the non-resident worksheet that applies. This will determine the amount that can be claimed for local taxes withheld. Most taxpayers can use their Form W-2(s) as the source for obtaining their local wages, however, please keep in mind that employers can incorrectly list local wages. If there are no wages listed in the local wage box use the amount listed in the state wage box first, if none listed use amount listed in federal wage box. If the wages shown in the local wage box are lower than the wages shown in the federal, social security, or state wage boxes, the highest amount will be used for local wages unless the W-2, or information you provide, explains the difference as non-taxable for local purposes. If the form W-2(s) has different amounts reported, you may want to ask your employer what makes up these differences and contact our office to verify the correct amounts to use.
2	Taxpayers should enter the amount of their allowable business expenses by taking the total reported on their PA UE Form. The total must be prorated if the taxpayer reported a move for the tax year. In order to claim the expenses they must be explained in detail and documentation must be available for the tax office's review. The taxpayer has the burden of proving that any expense claimed as a deduction from earned income is ordinary, actual, reasonable, necessary, directly related and 100% required for employment in order to be deducted from earned income. We follow the Pennsylvania Individual Income Tax regulations and guidelines. For additional information see the "Allowable Business Expense" section of the PA 40 instruction booklet.
3	Subtract line 2 from line 1 and enter total here.
4a	Taxpayers should complete the back side of the tax return to calculate the overall net effect of the other taxable income. This includes net profits from Schedule C as well as Schedule F for farming activities, Form 1065 for Partnership activities (K-1). PA Schedules are preferred for we follow the Pennsylvania Individual Income Tax regulations and guidelines. If the combined calculation for each taxpayer results in a loss, the value that is added to the adjusted W-2 income is zero. Losses cannot be used to decrease W-2 earnings. It should be noted that the income for the taxpayer and spouse cannot be combined. A loss from a taxpayer cannot be used against income for his/her spouse.
4b	Report other taxable income that is not listed on a PA Schedule such as Form 1099 income and miscellaneous income. Please include copies of Form 1099's and miscellaneous income documentation if available. Types of Form 1099's that are taxable: 1099 MISC, 1099-K if self-employed, and 1099-R with a distribution Code of 1 or 2 for early retirement payments. Other types of Form 1099's such as 1099 INT, 1099 DIV, 1099-G and 1099-R for normal retirement and direct rollover are not taxable for local tax purposes. Other sources of income that may not have a form for reporting purposes. Examples of these other incomes sources include but are not limited to: patents, fees, honoraria, etc. Any questions as to the taxability of income should be directed to the tax office.
5	Add amounts from line 3, 4a and 4b and enter total here.
6	(a) Taxpayers in PA file with the appropriate tax collector a local EIT return for the municipality/school district where they declare their legal tax home. If your tax home does not levy an EIT, your work site can tax your earnings at a non-resident tax rate if one has been enacted. If you have received a CTA tax return but have a legal tax home outside Centre County which levies an EIT, please file with that municipality/school district and provide to CTA a copy of your tax return, attachments, and proof of payment. The proof of filing elsewhere will allow us to correct our records and to transfer any withholdings that are available to the applicable tax office. To be subject to filing a non-resident return using your worksite non-resident tax rate, you would be an individual that does not claim legal domicile with the political subdivision where you are employed and have no local filing requirement where you declare your legal tax home. You would be subject to file a tax return if your employer failed to withhold at the correct non-resident work site tax rate and your return resulted in a refund to you or a balance due to Centre Tax Agency. No tax return is required if your employer withheld the proper non-resident worksite tax rate and your return would result in an even return. If it is necessary to file a return with our office as a non-resident you must provide non-resident documentation to reconcile the tax return. Such documentation would be: a copy of your valid passport, including current visa and/or current I-20 or DS-2019 Form issued from The Pennsylvania State University (this documentation applies to International students); a copy of your current driver's license; out-of-state tuition paid receipt; or a copy of a current state tax return filed with your legal domicile. In addition to filing your tax return, you may also need to update your employer's payroll withholding records to ensure that future withholdings are completed at the correct local tax rate. The tax office has created a worksheet to assist non-resident taxpayers whose employment involved work sites in more than one municipality. Please visit our website for this form or by requesting a form from our office. (b) If you moved between two different municipalities you are required to file the Part-Year Resident Worksheet. In an effort to prevent an individual from filing more than one tax return to the same tax collector, you may report the combined total local income, total expenses, total calculation of the tax and total local withholdings on the appropriate line of the tax return if you have determined that you moved between municipalities for which the Centre Tax Agency is the collector. If only one of your residences is collected by Centre Tax Agency then you should only report the total local income, total expenses, total calculation of tax and tax withholdings calculated for that residence on the appropriate lines of the tax return.
7	(a) Tax Withheld by Employer - Enter the total local tax withheld as reported on Form W-2(s), the prorated share as calculated on your part-year resident worksheet and/or the calculated credit allowed amount if you worked in an area where the non-resident worksite tax rate exceeds your home resident tax rate. This total should not include local income tax withheld and/or paid to the City of Philadelphia or states other than Pennsylvania. Do not include Local Services Tax withheld if it appears on your Form W-2(s). (b) Quarterly Tax Payments - This line should include the total self-payments that you or your spouse made for the tax year. (c) Prior Year Overpayment - This line should include any amount of credit that you have available from a prior year tax return. The tax office will confirm this overpayment based on your prior years' tax returns filed. Do not include overpayments for prior years that were refunded to you. (d) Credit for tax paid to other states - This line allows the taxpayer to include an amount that is available as an out-of-state tax credit. This amount is determined by completing a Schedule G and including a photocopy of the other state tax return and a copy of your PA state tax return and PA Schedule G. Schedule G is found on the website or by requesting a form from our office. (e) Total - Line 7(e) is a field that the taxpayer uses to sum all credits that are available. The total credits will be compared to the total tax liability.
8	A taxpayer who has credits that are greater than the tax year liability can elect to have the excess credits refunded, credited to a future tax year, credited to a spouses' balance due, or split between a refund and credit. Lines 8(a) and (b) should be used for these purposes. If you wish to have your refund direct deposited, please fill out the proper information on the tax form otherwise your refund will be issued as a paper check. Please note that refund and credit requests without documentation required for the filing of a complete, accurate tax return will delay your requests. Refund requests of $1.00 or less will not be honored. Tax returns beginning with tax year 2012 must be rounded up or down (when applicable) to whole dollars.
9	The amount calculated as your balance due represents the unpaid balance of the tax liability. If the balance due is a $1.00 or less, no payment is due. Please note that if your tax liability has resulted in an underpayment, you may be required to remit quarterly self-payments for future tax years.
9a	You may apply a credit from a spouse to offset your balance that is due.
10a	Penalty is 1% per month and Interest is .25% per month if paid after the due date. Penalty and interest are calculated on the unpaid amount of the tax liability. Please note, filing an extension of time to file a return does not grant an extension for the payment of tax. Penalty is calculated at 1% for each month or fraction of month during which the tax remains unpaid. Interest is calculated by using the rate established under the Pennsylvania Fiscal Code, 53 P.S. § 806. Under 53 P.S. § 806, the Pennsylvania Secretary of Revenue in January of each year announces an interest rate applicable for that calendar year. The interest rate applicable for calendar year 2016 is 3% per annum.
10b	Tax returns beginning with tax year 2016 will have a late filing fee added in the amount of $25.00 for any return that is not filed by the due date listed on the return. If an extension form is filed with our office by the due date the fee will reflect the due date on the extension. Additional fees will also be imposed for individuals that are making late payments, non-payments, requesting payment plans and failed to make quarterly self-payments that were required. A schedule of the collection costs can be found on our website.
11	Once you have determined the payment due you should remit payment with the return of the amount shown on line 11. Payee information for your payment appears on the front of the tax return. Please indicate on the check/money order the name of the taxpayer, tax year, and last four digits of the social security number.
12	If filing a combined return, enter amount enclosed. (A payment due & a credit balance may be combined.)
